ANNOUNCEMENT IS A SURPRISE TO READING

British Ambassador Says That Ottawa Dispatch Saying U. S. Troops Will Be Held as Reserves is Directly Opposite to Information Received By Him From British Cabinet

GETS THIRTY YEARS FOR UTTERANCES

(By Associated Press)
Ayer, May 13.—Ernest Plentje, of Cambridge, a sergeant in Company F, 301st Infantry, was sentenced today to thirty years' imprisonment at Fort Jay, N. Y., for unpatriotic utterances. He was arrested at Camp Devens, March 26 and tried by court martial.

Witnesses at the trial testified that he had said that President Wilson was incapable of standing the responsibilities put upon him by the war; that this country had no business entering the war and that if this country had stayed out Germany would have won. Referring to the 76th division at Camp Devens, witnesses said that Plentje declared that "If the German army ever saw this bunch, they would laugh themselves to death." Other witnesses testified that the sergeant had invited persons to drink the health of the Kaiser with him.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 13.—Lord Reading the British Ambassador in a statement here today declared that the announcement coming by way of Ottawa that the American army would not be fully utilized on the western front until it had developed its greatest power, was directly opposite to information which he had received from the British war cabinet, and he was at a loss to explain its meaning. The ambassador's statement added to the puzzle in which American officers found themselves today on reading the announcement from Ottawa. The confidential information reaching here recently indicated that such a plan as outlined from Ottawa was under consideration.

DESECRATION OF THE FLAG
One of the most violent desecrations of the American flag has been noticed in Kittery where a family living on the water front near the Badger's Island bridge, has a small American flag decorating an ash heap in the back yard.

This is a disgrace to the town and patriotic citizens should get busy and see that the flag is put to a better use.

MAY ASK WILSON TO VISIT FRANCE

Paris, May 13.—A visit to Europe by President Wilson "as our supreme war lord for peace by victory" may bring the final decision in the war, says Paul M. Lyons, editor of "The Rights of Man," in a statement prepared for The Associated Press concerning the American labor delegation which has just completed its visit to France.

St. Lyons attaches the greatest importance to the moral support given by America to France, which feels the strain of nearly four years of war. He states that the action of the Socialists who assured the American labor party they would have no part in an international Socialist conference in which representatives of enemy countries participated was of deepest significance.

"America must continue and intensify such moral support," she says, "for at what avail could the four huge American army on our front if there were faltering at our rear; if France, which is your battlefield, should crumble morally under your heel? The psychological factor in the war is of paramount importance, for this is essentially spiritual, yes, a religious contest. You must help us to win our moral Verdun."

The time may come when the final decision will be made sure by a personal visit of President Wilson to the continent as our supreme war lord for peace by victory."

HOGAN PITCHING GREAT BALL

Faunting an even dozen and allowing only one hit William Hogan, Kents Hill pitcher, was forced to see his team defeated 3 to 1 by Westbrook Seminary at Portland Saturday. Numerous opportunities to score were not taken advantage of. Hogan has been approached by Connie Mack of the Athletics, who will give him a contract now at the close of school, but he probably will go to college. He is rated as the best schoolboy pitcher in Maine.

Hogan is a local boy, a former high school star and a Sunset league player. He also pitched for the St. Austen College and he looks like a good prospect. He has all that goes to make a ball player, youth, build and good speed and control.

DOVER

Dover, May 13.—The work of reconstructing the section of the Dover Point bridge, which was washed away by ice in March, is not progressing very rapidly. GRAIN AND HOGS ON THE INCREASE

Exeter, May 13.—Returns from the farm surveys of the Rockingham county farms as returned to the Rockingham County Farm Bureau shows an increase in acreage planted this year as compared with last. The largest increase appears to be in corn, beans and potatoes. Wheat, however, is also being sowed more than in 1917; this week returns from East Kingston show 7 1-4 acres more; Salem 3 3-4 acres as compared with 1-2 an acre last year; Kingston 2 3-4 acres more than last year; Rye, 2 3-4 acres more, while Newmarket at present shows the largest acreage of wheat, the figures being 9 1-2 acres. As has been published, the North Hampton wheat field of 40 acres is probably the largest in the county at present.

The increase in corn, potatoes and beans is all the way from 2 to 10 acres. There is also a large increase in the number of hogs which is nearly 50 per cent in most towns. The Food Production committee will this week close its campaign of food production meetings in the various towns of the county in connection with local committees, by holding them at Brentwood this evening, and the last one will be at Danville on Thursday evening.

Some of the princes who were at Lucerne, Lausanne and other resorts were recalled to Zurich by telegraph.

"Not Arrived? He Left Over An Hour Ago!"

A call such as this from the office, is only one of the shocks that keep a wife more or less nervous until her husband arrives safely home in the evening.

She knows that any one of a hundred accidents may happen to him on the street, in the car, in the elevator, even in the office. The AETNA has paid claims on 152,500 accidents.

First, she is worried over John's safety. Then must come the thought: "What would happen to me if anything happened to John?"

John can so easily remove this latter anxiety, and prove his consideration and affection in a practical way. If he will only

AETNA-IZE

At very little cost his AETNA ACCIDENT POLICY will insure him an income of from $12.00 to $20 weekly in case of disability. Or, will let him see a sum ranging as high as $15,000 should the accident prove fatal.

Surely, that husband who believes in a square deal will see the justice of investigating this prospective plan today.

"Every Man to His Trade."

At the recent annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association it was proposed to seek the co-operation of the government in establishing a voluntary censorship bureau composed of practical newspaper men. Under this plan the bureau would have a committee of trained journalists to gather from the various departments of the government such information as would be of interest to the public and helpful in the prosecution of the war, while at the same time unimportant matter would be eliminated and nothing would be furnished to the press that could by any possibility tend aid or comfort to the enemy.

The plan seems feasible and it is to be believed that good, and good only, would result from the establishment of such a bureau. There is an old saying and a wise one, which is, "Every man to his trade," and the founding of such a bureau as proposed would be simply the application of this rule. Newspapermen know what news is and how to handle it, and that they would do the work in question far better than it is being done is beyond all question. Hopewell Rogers, who retired from the presidency of the association at this meeting, in an address pronounced the government's publicity department "incompetent and disloyal." It is probable that few would go so far as that in their estimate of the publicity department. While it is admittedly incompetent, there is really no foundation for the charge of disloyalty. That is a very serious charge, and one that is not warranted in this case.

But the fact remains that the people, who are supporting the war with the utmost loyalty and devotion, have a right to know what is going on. They do not want military secrets passed over to the enemy, but they want such news as is to be given out, and they want it straight. And newspapermen of experience and judgment should be in charge of this work. They know how it should be done and are able and ready to do it, and if such an arrangement could be entered into as was suggested at the meeting of the Publishers' Association there is reason to believe that both the Administration and the public would be greatly benefited.

There is too much theory and flubdub in the present system, which is not only very expensive, but very unsatisfactory. The work is not in the hands of the right men. The country must have soldiers for the army, sailors for the navy, mechanics for the shipyards and business executives for the business departments. By the same token it should have for handling public information men trained to the work. There is no lack of such men, who are to be found in the leading newspaper offices from one end of the country to the other. These men could be had for the asking, and the government should lose no time in inviting the required number to step forward.

The childishness displayed by some Americans in the name of patriotism is painful. Berlin, Wis., wants to change its name to Boston, partly because buyers are returning goods made by manufacturers there with the statement that they "will purchase no goods made in Berlin." Such frothy folderol will play no part in putting the real Berlin out of business.

The Food Administration announces that provision will be made for supplying the housewives of the country with all the sugar needed for canning purposes. In the meantime the information should be spread that certain fruits can be successfully preserved without sugar.

More than 1,100 casualties among the New England men in France, 300 of whom have been killed, will cause the folks at home to realize more keenly than ever that the country is at war. And America's part in the war has only just begun.

If the government decides to raise the draft age to forty years it will cause some of the fellows who have been strutting about and telling what they would do if they were a few years younger to sit up and take notice.

A statement of the obvious is made in a dispatch from Texas which says "there is a reason for every aviation accident." The same is true of every railroad accident and every other accident.

Boston carried its Liberty Loan up to 165 per cent, thereby leading every big city in the country. The "Hub of the Universe" has a right to be a little chesty over this achievement.

Criticism of the "Gov'tment" is not confined to the United States. They are having quite a touch of it in England just now.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Poster Desecrator Punished
(From the San Francisco Chronicle news columns)

With the expressed approval of a courtroom filled with spectators, and the prisoners in the dock, Police Judge John J. Sullivan sentenced Edward Pfeiffer, a registered alien, to six months in the county jail for tearing down a Liberty bond poster on Market street. The court refused to entertain Pfeiffer's excuse that he tore the poster down because he was mad at the Kaiser for starting the war that stopped his remittance.

Investigating the Colt Company
(From the Hartford Courant)

An "Investigation" of the Colt Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Company, according to report, is to be made. We venture to predict that none will be made, but no doubt would be welcomed by the officers of the company, as it would show the critics their lack of understanding of the situation.

The Colt Company has expanded its working force in three and a half years from 750 employees to 6300. It has built three large factories here and acquired another in Meriden. It has followed the order of the War Department to continue the manufacture of the Vickers gun for the United States, while it developed the new Brownings. As a result it is now turning out over sixty Vickers guns a day and will complete its contracts ahead of time. A contract to be completed June 1 will be filled and all deliveries made this week. Additional orders of Vickers guns will keep the company busy for a long time to come. While installing the machinery for the manufacture of the heavy Browning here and the light Browning in Meriden it has been a training school for other gun manufacturers, all of its Browning gun data being at the disposal of Winchester, Remington-U. M. C., Westinghouse and Marlin experts, all of which concerns are now making or preparing to make Browning guns. The Colt Company has now reached the production stage of the light Browning in its Meriden plant, and 500 will be turned out there this month. Production in quantity of the heavy Browning will begin here in Hartford by the middle of May, and June 1 will see 250 completed guns, with production rapidly increasing from that date.

At the same time the Colt Company is now turning out over 1200 automatic pistols a day and 400 revolvers.

On the first of November last orders were issued by the Colt Company discontinuing all commercial business, in order that the company's whole time might be devoted to the service of the Government.

Just as the responsible management of the Colt Company is seeing light after the chaos of expansion and the weary months of Washington uncertainty it is a fine time to talk of an "Investigation."

The latest bit of humor from Berlin is the editorial remark: "America begins to see that she has backed the wrong horse."

Patriotic Maine Indians
(From the Lewiston Journal)

The Passamaquoddy Indians have 22 men in the United States service, most of the young tribesmen being in Company I, 103d Infantry, now in France. A service flag with twenty-two stars hangs in front of St. Anne's Church, in the Indian Reservation at Pleasant Point, Eastport.

Will Keep His Place
(From the Kansas City Star)

Speaker Clark can be assured that in declining to go to the Senate he hasn't hurt his chances for the presidency the slightest bit. His chances for the presidency will be the same in the speakership that they would be in the Senate—just the same.

Evolution of a Secretary
(From the Minneapolis Journal, Indl. Rep.)

In 1881, Chester A. Arthur, a successful ward politician, was named on the Republican ticket as vice presidential candidate, in the hope that he could carry New York for his party. When he came to the presidency through the assassination of Garfield the nation stood against. What would this unknown, untitled man do as president? But high position and great responsibilities soon developed the politician into a wise administrator who made an honorable record.

The developing power of responsibility was even more notably illustrated in the case of Grover Cleveland. The rapid promotion of an obscure county sheriff to the presidency was the occasion for many misgivings, but with the responsibilities of his great office upon him he developed into one of our greatest Presidents.

Our history furnishes many instances of similar evolution in office, but the most marked instance in recent years is the present Secretary of the Navy. The rapid change in public sentiment toward Secretary Daniels is largely due to the fact that he has grown and matured up to the situation, as the requirements of his office have multiplied. It has been a case of evolution. The place and its requirements have developed the man.

There is no doubt, too, that opposition in his case, as in the case of many other public men, has had a wholesome effect. He has shown himself big enough to profit by the gibes of his critics.

Harmonious With His Record
(From the Topics of the Times in New York Times)

Nothing could be easier to believe than the news that the Kaiser's eldest son has been much interested in the big guns by means of which Paris has been bombarded, and that he has fired some shots at the distant mark with his own hand. That he would do so agrees with all that we have heard and read about this somewhat elderly young man.

For one thing, the new artillery is posted so far behind No Man's Land that its examination and operation are attended by little or no personal danger, and while it would probably be unjust as well as ungenerous to say that anything except his duty as a high military commander keeps him most of the time, if not all of it, beyond range of enemy fire, the fact of the big gun's position can be noted as relevant to the veracity of the dispatch under consideration.

On the other hand, there is nothing in the Crown Prince's known record to indicate that he would recoil from sending shells into Paris, regardless of what or whom they might hit. He is not a person of delicate sensibilities or any more likely to be shocked by indiscriminate slaughter of French civilians than by the wholesale sacrifice of his own soldiers' lives. For him "military necessity" would cover with its convenient mantle consequences as theoretically unpleasant as the blowing up of maternity hospitals and primary schools. A brief expression of regret for the inevitable would settle scores like that for him, and "Just it again!" would be his quite natural order after the first shot had shaken the surrounding territory.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Warrior About the Flag.
Editor—What has become of the service flag which formerly waved proudly from the hall of the Fraternal Order of Eagles? It is seldom seen now during the good weather but was allowed to remain out during the winter months and was exposed to storms and winds and no proper care taken of it.

License for Eating Houses.
Editor—The establishment of the many eating houses in this city of late with more on the way is a matter which the city council must sooner or later give some attention in an order which will require such places of business to carry on the same under a license. Nearly every city has required the proprietors to take out a victualler's license and there is no reason why the city is not entitled to revenue the same as that which it collects from pool rooms, pawn shops and other sources.

ALL CITIZENS CAN ACT AS DETECTIVES

Washington, May 13.—Every citizen may act as a volunteer detective to assist the government officers in ferreting out persons suspected of disloyal actions or utterances, says a statement issued today by Atty.-Gen. Gregory. United States attorneys have been told to co-operate with newspapers in their efforts so that public notice can be given of the near offices of attorneys or the bureau of investigation to which citizens may refer information that they think will be valuable in running down suspicious persons.

"The district attorneys are instructed to make it clear," says the attorney-general's statement, "that complaints of even the most informal or confidential nature are always welcome, and that citizens should feel free to bring their information or suspicions to the nearest representative of the department of justice, or if that is not convenient communicate with the department at Washington."

Hundreds of letters already are received daily by the department here from persons who believe they have discovered evidence of disloyalty. Although only a small part of the information proves of value, the department considers the system of sufficient worth to warrant its extension.

NAVY YARD NOTES

We Would Like a Cargo.

One of the government collars is reported as bringing 18,021 tons of coal to Mystic Wharf, Boston, which is consigned to the New England Fuel administration. The cargo is the largest ever docked there and several more are on the way. The people of this city are asking why one of these collars cannot be sent here to relieve the situation which is nearly as bad as the past winter.

He Will Be Missed.

The many friends of Fred H. Samelson, well and favorably known yearman at the yard for several months, will be interested to hear that he is assigned to one of the immense transports that is doing its bit getting the Sammites "over there." Sam was a general favorite about this city and his hurried departure was something of a shock to the younger members of local society as well as the smart sets of Eliot, Kittery and points east. Sam had delved deep into the occult sciences and being gifted with powers almost uncanny was a most entertaining contributor at many social functions in the city and vicinity. His friends predict that if any U-boats drift within the field of his power we will be theirs and then some. He was also a singer of no little ability, having toured on the recent recruiting campaign of the Reserves, his numbers being received with marked enthusiasm all along the circuit.

Assistant Secretary at Boston.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy visited the Boston yard today, also Fore River and Squantum. He lunched with Rear Admiral Wood, commandant of the first naval district.

Has Fractured Foot.

E. Howard Brynes of 120 Union street, an electrician, sustained a fractured foot on Saturday afternoon while at work in building 89. The accident was caused by a generator sliding from a frame on which it was standing onto his foot. He was treated at the yard hospital and sent to his home today.

Keeping Them Busy.

Fifteen minor injury cases were treated at the yard dispensary up to noon today and the same number redressed by the medical force there.

The List Is Large.

Over 200 women are said to be on the list at the labor board for employment as female operators.

Puts It Up to Skipper.

Blame for the sinking of the navy tug Cherokee on February 20, resulting in the loss of several members of the crew, has been placed on the commander officer, Lieut. Edward D. Nowell, and on the age and condition of the craft. The Navy Department, however, says that the responsibility of the commander appears to be greatly mitigated "in view of his youth, lack of familiarity with navy methods, and an undoubted desire to obey his instructions as soon as possible."

Named After Hero.

Carrying out his policy of honoring heroes of this war in the naming of Naval craft, Sec. Daniels today named two of the new destroyers Kalk and Ingram, the former in honor of the deck officer who lost his life on the destroyer Jacob Jones when she was sunk by a submarine, and the latter for Gunners' Mate Osmond K. Ingram killed on the destroyer Cassin by a depth charge which he threw overboard to save the vessel after she had been torpedoed.

Two other new destroyers will be named The Ward, after Commander James N. Ward, first officer of the Navy, killed in the Civil War, and the Yarnall, in honor of Lieut. John Yarnall, who remained in command of Perry's flagship in the battle of Lake Erie when the Admiral transferred his flag.

Praise For Gunner.

Seaman Elmer Dimes Arnold, who was in charge of a Naval gun crew on the American steamer Chincha when that vessel was attacked recently by a submarine, has been commended by Sec. Daniels. After Arnold's gun crew had fired eight shots the submarine submerged. It was the second time a U-boat had attacked the Chincha. Arnold enlisted at Indianapolis in 1915 and his sister, Lillian Evans, lives at Carmel, Ind.

JOKED WITH MEN BEFORE KILLED

With the American Army in France Thursday (Delayed).—Major Andrew Rasmussen, of Portland, Ore., who was killed a few days ago while leading a reconnaissance party on the American front in Picardy, was the idol of his men because of his utter fearlessness. He passed unscathed through revolutions in Central America and more severe fighting with General Carranza's forces in Mexico, and finally through two years of service as a major with the Canadian army.

He was detailed by the British last October to assist in training Americans in bayonet fighting and later was sent to an American army school as instructor. In January he was transferred to the American army with a major's commission.

Major Rasmussen was immediately given command of a battalion and went into action on the front northwest of Toul, where he suffered slight injury in a gas attack.

On the night that his battalion was moved from its billets into the line on the Picardy front Major Rasmussen joked with several correspondents while the German shells were bursting in the village, a few kilometers in the rear. He told them they might have his uniform, helmet and other things in case he was killed. Then he rode laughing toward the trenches.

SPOKE AT Y. M. C. A. ON SUNDAY

The service for the enlisted men at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon was in keeping with "Mothers' Day" and well attended. The speaker was Mr. Dan of Boston, associate secretary for the north-eastern department of the Y. M. C. A. war work.

In his address he dwelt on the real meaning of the day; to honor and uplift motherhood and to have the day a reminder of a mother's love and her sacrifices; to have the occasion to be a time for the revival of her influence and a renewal of honor and loyalty to her memory.

The speaker said it was pleasing to note that so many people were the emotion and that even some of the enlisted men wore the symbolic flower of the day. He asked all present not to let the day pass without a written message to go back to their home and mother. To those whose mother had passed beyond he asked to offer a silent prayer to her memory.

A song service led by District Secretary William M. Forgrave preceded the address and a number of the hymns were especially selected for "Mothers' Day."

Following the service a Fellowship lunch was served by the Woman's Auxiliary.

They're Deadly Foes to Gas Waste—the Chalmers Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn Manifold

These are days when the sagacious person is cutting out all forms of waste in his shop and in his home.

No doubt a condition that has sent thousands to see the new Chalmers with its two great devices that Hooverize gas.

One of them is the now noted Hot Spot, which cracks up and heats up the raw gas into a cooked condition for wonderful power results.

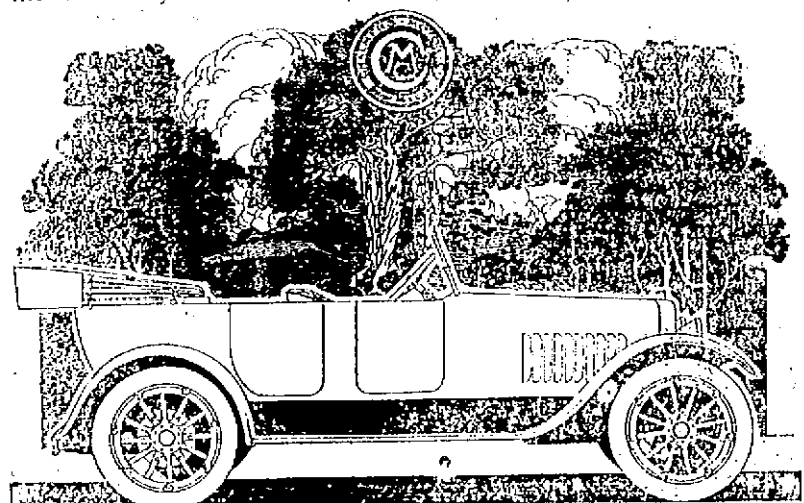

The other is the Ram's-Horn Manifold, which of the two is, probably an even greater device.

For it takes the gas vapor from the Hot Spot and carries it 14 inches equi-distant to each cylinder without sharp turns, angles or pockets where the vapor might lodge.

So that at the moment of sparking, the gas is (like the charge in a large projectile) ready for 100% results.

There's so little that comes out of the exhaust in the form of unburned gas as to be negligible.

All the power goes into the crank-shaft and out of the rear wheels. And such a soft, luring power that it casts a spell of intense satisfaction the moment your foot touches the accelerator.

PLAN WATER ROUTE FROM MAINE TO BOSTON

Convention of Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways Association.

The convention of the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways Association will meet in Boston next October. It will plan a water route from Boston to Maine. This will make New Hampshire, especially southern New Hampshire, and more especially Portsmouth, interested in this convention.

The route of the inland waterway from this city south, would be through the Piscataqua River, Little Bay, Great Bay, Exeter River, and a short cut through a canal to be dug to the Merrimack river, then from that river to Plum Island, then via Ipswich river, then via Massachusetts Bay, Cape Cod Canal, Long Island Sound to New York.

It is estimated that more than one third of the population of the United States would be benefited by the completion of this inland waterway. New Hampshire delegates to that convention should be instructed to invite members of the convention to inspect Portsmouth harbor and the adjacent waterways.

AMERICANS GET BIG WELCOME IN LONDON

London, May 13.—The appearance of national army men on parade in the streets of London Saturday aroused the enthusiasm of the Sunday papers as have few events in many months. The writers unite in giving unstinted praise to the appearance of the men and predict for them a record of splendid achievements when they reach the front.

"Since the thrilling days of the first months of the war," says the Observer, "London has not known such a notable scene of enthusiasm as that evoked yesterday. The finest sight I have ever seen since the war began," was the verdict of a young soldier who has seen service on four fronts. The men are a fine-looking body, and appear to be in the pink of condition. The companies filed past with light, elastic step, keeping excellent time and creating a mighty favorable impression of their marching qualities and physique.

"Londoners cheered yesterday as they have not cheered for many months," says Lloyd's Weekly News. "From the moment when the first battalion detrained to the last minute of farewell, when the crowd yelled out 'Come back soon,' the day was one of heartening friendliness. It was the women who gave the Americans a special welcome. 'God bless you,' they cried all along the route. Mothers lifted their children that they might have a sight of the soldiers from across the sea who were going to fight side by side with Daddy.

"And the waiting crowds found a new name for the visitors. As the first battalion swung out from Waterloo Station, some one called out to a friend that they were 'a real husky lot.' The word pleased the fancy of the crowd, and soon everyone was calling for cheers for 'the huskies.' It was a great friendship, which was struck up between the British crowd and the American boys who have come across to give them a hand. That was the feeling that permeated to the last, when the visitors said good-by for the time being to London.

The Weekly Dispatch prints a letter written home by an American soldier yesterday describing the day's proceedings of which the following is an extract:

"The whole march gave one a sort of at-home feeling. I think that was the biggest thing about it. If you ask me that they should want us to feel at home and that we should feel at home. Some of the fellows say it was the biggest moment they ever hope to have, standing there in front of the palace. When it made me feel was that we are all in it together.

Frederic Wile in the Weekly Dispatch says that as an American he knows that every man in the regiment felt it was the happiest and most memorable event in his life. He adds that the Dispatch has received a sheet of letters from all over Great Britain with countless schemes for organized hospitality to the American troops.

"Whether good or bad," he says, "the suggestions spring unmistakably from one universal sentiment with a wholehearted anxiety to convert Great Britain into Sammy's 'blighy' if he will have it."

The Sunday Pictorial says: "The King could not help but notice the grit and determination of the Americans reflected in their clean shaven faces and square jaws."

"Piercy, blithely, clean looking troops," says the Sunday Herald. "They made an excellent impression. Everywhere they were enthusiastically welcomed. As one broad-shouldered giant said, 'Your people's hearts seem as big as the streets are' broad. We had to leave New York without a cheer, and this makes up for it."

Lord Denbigh, addressing the Anglo-French Society of London yesterday, said one of the most inspiring sights he had ever seen was the march of the American battalions in London. They were as fine a lot of men as he had seen for a long time. They looked to be men of that quality which would train very fast. They would become good soldiers very much faster than the boche would have them, he declared.

"The Weekly Dispatch, which has inaugurated a campaign for hospitality to American soldiers," says on that subject:

"The King's message to every American soldier upon his landing upon our soil is a magnificent lead to the country. The King leads. Who will not follow?"

The Times says: "The war has given London many scenes—some gay, some grave—but few have surpassed yesterday's, when 3000 soldiers of republican America marched through the capital to parade for the sovereign ruler of the British empire. Very workmanlike looked these sturdy sons of the new world, carrying their full kit; very happy they looked as they took the salute of their ambassadors; very proud they were as they marched past the great white statue of Queen Victoria and saw the King of England raise his hand to the star-spangled banner that symbolized their home land. It was a wonderful sight, that visible union of the two great English speaking races."

"From early morning Londoners united to pay homage to the men from across the ocean. Officers and men were alike delighted at the cordiality of their reception, and spoke enthusiastically of the Londoners who received them so handsomely."

PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING THIS EVENING

The patriotic mass meeting to be held at the Portsmouth Theatre this evening should attract a large crowd. The message that the speakers bring to this city will be one that every person should be interested in the food conservation, a vital subject at the present time.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson, Hale, a prominent English actress who is a speaker of national reputation. She has been lecturing about the country for the Federal Food Administration and is very familiar with the needs of this country and of her allies on the food question.

Mr. Huntley Spaulding the State Food Administrator will preside and the meeting will be opened by Ex-Mayor D. W. Baile. A band will give a concert during the evening. This meeting is of great importance and several things that were scheduled for this evening were put over, the P. A. C. changing the date of their minstrel show so as not to interfere and other affairs have been put over.

IT COST ONE DOLLAR TO SAVE THIS LIFE

Perhaps It Was Your Red Cross Dollar That Gave This Broken Flier His Chance to Live.

By BRUCE BARTON
Of the Vigilantes.

From the ground they could see that there was something the matter with his machine. And even while they watched through their glasses he began to fall.

A minute later the little Ford ambulance was putting its way across the five miles of shell-stricken road that lay between them and him.

They found him beside the machine. He was unconscious, but a true had broken his fall.

"Just in the nick of time," said the doctor crisply. "He'll be a pretty sick boy for a few weeks, but we'll have him all right again and back with his French comrades."

So they put him into the little Ford ambulance, and—less than an hour after they saw him fall he was safe in a clean white bed.

"That's what it means to have plenty of equipment, plenty of ambulances and doctors and bandages and everything," said the Red Cross man who told me. "It means the difference in getting there on time or getting there just a minute too late."

"Wonderful!" I answered. "And how much did it cost you to make that trip—to save that one French boy's life?"

"He flushed a little. 'We don't measure it in terms of money.'"

"I know it. But what do you think it cost?" I persisted—for gasoline and the trip and the bandages and all?"

"Perhaps a dollar, maybe two. But why do you ask?"

"A dollar?" I answered. "A dollar to save a boy's life! To send him home again from the war to the mother and father who have scanned every headline and waited breathlessly for every visit of the letter carrier! Can a dollar do a miracle like that?"

"It can," said the Red Cross man. "And then the thought occurred to me that perhaps it might have been one of my dollars."

It was somebody's dollar that did it. It might have been mine—or one of yours.

Who knows?

Three Thousand Mile Dash Across Russia to Succor Roumania—Heroic Work Required.

Poor little Roumania, once so happy and so beautiful! Robbed of its rich lands by German hordes, its people driven back upon themselves, the once picturesque city of Jassy is now crowded beyond its limits with the country's destitute and starving.

Nothing but the most heroic efforts of the American Red Cross has kept Roumania from actually disappearing from among the nations of the earth. When all those who could leave the country had fled Henry W. Anderson, American Red Cross commissioner to that outraged country, stuck in his post. Discarded, starving and ragged people were all about him. The cause seemed hopeless. Even the Red Cross money could buy nothing in Roumania, for the country was stripped.

So Anderson appealed to our Red Cross in Russia. There were supplies there, but how could they be carried the 3,000 miles that separated Petrograd from Jassy. Russia was struggling against internal disorder, which in the Ukrainian territory was civil war. Even with the authority and protection of the Bolshevik government the cause seemed hopeless.

Yet help came—a whole train load under the charge of Lieutenant Mangin of the American Red Cross in Russia. And Anderson sent this cable:

"We are today distributing food and clothing to more than 10,000 people and increasing numbers every week. Expecting shipment of four more cars of food from Odessa this week. By extraordinary effort we believe we can continue purchase of sufficient supplies to carry on work."

And so our Red Cross is showing all the world that not only are our men ready to fight for the right, but are ready to help all those others who are in this battle for freedom.

A GRIELLING NIGHT FOR THE CANTEN MAN

A Red Cross Canteen man wearily looked the fires under the kettle. Their light is in an old house near by. By the light of a candle the Red Cross conveyor undresses and rolls into his blankets. Suddenly there comes a sharp, crackling sound, and a red flare lights up the room. The conveyor rolls quickly out of his bunk, catches up his blankets and runs down the rickety stairs to the cellar. There he finds his French assistant and a lot of soldiers. They exchange words and then seat themselves on boxes. Four more sharp, crackling noises follow in rapid succession, and a mournful roar. This is only the beginning of an artillery duel which lasts all night.

At break of day the Red Cross man bestirs himself, shakes his assistant and tumbles up the stairway out into the yard. It is strewn with debris. A shell struck the next house in the night and blew out the wall. The conveyor and his man sit to work gingerly, for the air is chill. They poke the fires and throw on fresh wood and then set to work to prepare the food. Within an hour the canteen is ready for business.

USED MORE SHELLS THAN IN 1870

BERNH, May 12.—German batteries before the great assault on the British front on March 21, fired almost three times as many shells in three hours as the Germans fired in the entire Franco-Prussian War.

A German staff officer has informed a Swiss newspaper that the German artillery used more than 1,500,000 shells during the three-hour bombardment preceding the attack. This is more than 8,300 a minute or, estimated on a front of fifty miles, about 160 a minute a mile. The total number shells used by Germans in the war of 1870 was about 670,000.

GAS ATTACKS HAVE SURPRISED

(By Associated Press)

London, May 12.—Gas warfare has developed to a very considerable extent since its first use as a surprise weapon by the Germans at the second battle of Ypres. At that time the gas cloud or "wave" was released from great cylinders of liquid gas embedded in the trenches and discharged by pipes leading through the parapet.

This form of attack has now been largely discarded, for it depended for effectiveness on the prevailing wind blowing from the right quarter. It soon became apparent that the gas shell was a far more important weapon than any gas cloud or wave, for its action is independent of the wind and a continuous barrage of gas shells can be kept up so that the whole target area is continuously poisoned.

New England Fuel Administrator URGES COAL FIRE BE ABANDONED

He says that a ton of coal turned into gas by the gas company has greater fuel value than a ton and a half burned in the kitchen range. We have always told you this. Now why do you keep on using coal when it is so scarce and you can get a better fuel by using gas?

PORTSMOUTH GAS CO., ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE

First German gas attack, the British and French quickly devised defensive measures and every soldier was supplied with a gas mask. The box respirator which every Allied soldier now carries is an absolute protection against all forms of gas, provided that it is put on at the first alarm and is not removed until the danger is past.

But it is very difficult to fight hour after hour without removing the respirator. There can be little speech, and a man can neither eat, drink nor smoke. During a gas attack, there must be as little unnecessary moving as possible, for violent movements of the body are likely to displace the mask and let a little of the poisoned air into the lungs. Gas is now used largely by both sides, for the bombardment of back areas and lines of communication, for the silencing of hostile batteries, and as a barrage previous to an infantry attack, when their effect is often supplemented by gas-wave discharges from trench cylinders. The effect of a gas attack is much worse and lasts much longer in closed spaces such as trenches and dugouts, and is more effective in towns and villages than in the open. There are many kinds of gas now in common use. There is a purely suffocating gas; a tear gas, which attacks the eyes; a suffocating gas, intended to provoke an easier assimilation of the poison gas which accompanies it; and lastly the mustard gas, which is an eye, lung and skin irritant.

Gas shells in most cases contain a mixture, designed to produce a double effect. The shells are fired by guns of all calibre and gas "mines" and "torpedoes" are discharged from trench mortars.

The majority of gas casualties recover quickly, provided they have been only slightly exposed to the fumes before they put their respirators on. The effects of the irritant mustard gas are not usually serious, most cases recovering in two or three days. It is generally stated that the gas attacks of the French and British are more potent even than those of the Germans, while the Allies' respirators are much better than the German because the Germans have not been able to get rubber enough to use it plentifully in these instruments. The German mask is of leather or treated so badly that German gas casualties have been inordinately heavy.

AMERICAN E LINE UNDER FIRE AGAIN

(By Associated Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 12.—The Pelcheprey salient shows signs of being a decisive battle and the enemy have been deluging the American lines with machine gun fire.

On the same front an American patrol found a number of German bodies in the advance trenches where they had evidently been left after the bombardment of May 4th. Another American patrol has entered the enemy lines without opposition at Lunévilly and south of Verdun. The official reports of Pelcheprey according to a prisoner was 600 killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

TUGS SUNK WITH CREW

Vineyard Haven, May 13.—The tug Ontario which has arrived here reports the loss of four men and two barges during a heavy westerly gale in Vineyard sound. Capt. George Chase of Dennisport was among those drowned. His body was picked up and brought here.

The Ontario was bound for Boston from Cornwall, N. Y., with four coal-laden barges, the Pilgrim, Smyrna, Sidney and Liberty, in tow. The Pilgrim sprang a leak and went down suddenly at 11 o'clock last night, and Capt. Chase and three of his crew, the cook and two seamen, were drowned. The only survivor from the Pilgrim was George W. Miller, who was picked up by the Ontario after being in the water an hour and a half. When taken to the Marine Hospital here he was bleeding from the ears. The tug reported that she received no signal from the Pilgrim before the barge plunged to the bottom, about 3 1/2 miles west by south of Vineyard Sound lightship.

The large Liberty began leaking early this morning and sank at 9:25 about 2 1/2 miles from the lightship. Her captain, Thomas Mahaffey of Hovey, and his three men, Ruel Bartley, J. Powers and Joseph Watts, were taken off by the tug at 5 o'clock this morning. The tug made an effort to tow the Liberty into shallow water, but the barge sank before this could be accomplished.

The tug and barges are owned by the Ontario & Western Transportation Company. The Pilgrim carried 2200 tons of hard coal and the Liberty 1500 tons. The latter was consigned to the Metropolitan Coal Company of

CHURCHES OBSERVED MOTHERS' DAY

Both by Preaching of Special
Sermons and by Beautiful
Floral Decorations.

Mother's Day was observed Sunday in several of the local churches by special sermons by the pastors and the floral decorations were carnations, the flower designated for "Mother's Day." Not only in the churches, but on the street and in public places generally the carnation was in evidence, and one needed not to inquire as to the significance of the display. While the institution of Mother's Day is comparatively new yet the emblem of the day was worn and recognized as such yesterday in many cities and towns in our country.

Rev. Dr. Dillingham preached an able sermon appropriate for Mother's Day at the service at the Universalist church on Sunday morning.

A special Mother's Day sermon was given on Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. Percy Warren Caswell, at the Court Street Christian church. The carnations, which were on the pulpit were sent to "shut-ins" of the parish after the evening service.

FOUR-YEAR OLD CHILD KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Crushed to Death by Wheel of Machine on Russell Street.

A sad and fatal accident occurred this morning on Russell street when the life of Robert D. Stepan, a four year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando D. Stepan was crushed out by a large auto truck owned by the Roland Strong Motor Trucking Company of Gloucester, Mass., driven by Frank P. Marston. The big machine which is employed at the Atlantic Corporation at Freeman's Point, was moving up the street from Vaughan street at a slow rate of speed when two other automobiles appeared coming in the opposite direction.

The street being narrow and the machines very large, Marston was obliged to drive close to the curb. Just as he met the second machine the child, who evidently was hanging on or chasing the car, came out from behind just in time to meet the truck going the other way. The forward wheel passed the young one, but the rear wheel passed directly over its head killing the child almost instantly. It is thought that the child walked directly between the wheels of the truck. The driver was placed under arrest pending the decision of the Medical Referee. It is the general opinion that Marston is blameless in the matter and that he could in no way prevent the unfortunate accident.
